New York State Hospitals
Moody’s Reasons for Financial Condition

- Challenging demographics, including high Medicaid and indigent, and a large immigrant population
- Payer concentration
- Close physical proximity of competitors and high degree of competition
- High cost of operation
- Merger difficulties
- Large number of high cost academic medical centers
- Legacy of a highly regulated system

Credit Enhancement for Capital Financing

- New York hospitals and nursing homes purchase and use credit enhancement to access the credit markets and to get lower cost of capital.

- Federal Housing Agency (FHA) hospital and nursing home mortgage insurance most often used in New York.

- In 1997, New York State represented 87% of the FHA portfolio. In 2005, it represented 65%.
DASNY’s Response to Capital Needs of Health Care Clients

- More flexible financing guidelines:
  - A3/A- no credit enhancement required
  - Will issue unenhanced debt as an exception to our guidelines in certain appropriate circumstances
- Allow for Parity Debt
- Debt Restructuring
  - Extension of Debt
- Subordination and/or release of collateral in certain instances
- DOH/DASNY Health Care Restructuring Pool loans
- Stream-lined process with Department of Health
Industry Response to Environment

- Industry is responding to the changing environment through consolidation, contraction and reconfiguration.

- More capital will be needed for the transition.

- If response includes a pattern of sustained financial failures -- either bond defaults or claims on insurance or other credit enhancement -- it is likely that future credit enhancement will be unavailable, difficult to procure or costly.
